Volunteers Test Vaccine Against 'Flu'

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (U)—Human volunteers are helping to test experimental vaccines designed to combat Asiatic flu and another virus or so may reveal whether one can be standardized for practical use.

A spokesman for the U.S. Public Health Service said today that five manufacturers have submitted samples of proposed vaccines to the service's Communicable Disease Center at Emory University, Ala. "Potency" tests are under way there.

The spokesman cautioned, however, that even if on or more of the vaccines passed the tests, it will not be possible to produce them in unlimited quantities by fall—when influenza usually is most prevalent.

He said a few "relatively localized outbreaks" of the disease—which has reached epidemic form in Asia—nations—already have occurred in the United States. Other outbreaks of influenza-like diseases are suspected of being the Asiatic type, though not yet confirmed as such.

The malady is a relatively mild one in that it seldom produces complications, but patients have high fevers and "ache all over." No deaths stemming from it have been reported in this country.

The spokesman said vaccine samples from one manufacturer, whom he declined to identify, have been under test at Montgomery for "two or three weeks," but that samples from the other four were received only last week. He said it takes a month or more to complete the tests.

In the tests, the spokesman said, human volunteers are injected with the vaccine, and tested at weekly intervals to determine how much resistance they have developed in the form of "antibodies" in their blood.

He stressed that there is no danger of the volunteers developing the flu itself as a result, because the infective route for the disease is by way of the nose and throat.

Court Lifts Ban on Wide Trailers

LITTLE ROCK — Restrictions against movement of overwide house trailers on Arkansas highways were removed temporarily yesterday by court order.

Pulaski Chancellor Guy E. Williams enjoined the State Police Commission and state policemen from enforcing the 1953 act regulating the width of trailers pending out come of a suit testing validity of the law.

The suit, brought by Fred and Jack Plug who operate a trailer sales company here, was filed after Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett's recent ruling that movement of overwide trailers without special permit should be stopped.

The controversy over the law stemmed from a request by Gov. Orval Faubus that the law be ignored to allow manufacturers of trailers to test them to low them to their customers. He said some of the manufacturers had threatened to leave the state unless the law was lifted.

The State Police Commission voted to go along with the governor, but B. N. (Bob) Frost said

Jury-Choosing Is Under Way at Knoxville

By BELMAN MORIN

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (U)—A jam-packed crowd was expected in federal court today to watch opposing lawyers continue their cautious maneuvers toward completing the jury for the "Clinton trials," a key test in the battle over segregation in public schools.

Three men and a woman were selected for duty yesterday after searching examinations, pivoting on the words, "prejudice," and "mixing the races."

The jury will hear the story of the rioting last autumn in the little town of Clinton, Tenn., when Negro students were enrolled under court order in the high school, previously all white. It is the first state-supported secondary school in Tennessee where integration was attempted.

As a result of the violence, 15 Tennesseans and a Northern segregationist, John Kramer, were indicted for criminal contempt. They are charged with violating a federal injunction against interference with integration.

The trials, which opened Monday, immediately took on a unique and highly dramatic character. Five, six and sometimes more attorneys from Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and Maryland crowded together around a table on the right of Federal Judge Robert L. Taylor—who issued the injunction the government claims was knowingly flouted.

Russia Vetoes H-Bomb Ban If Not Permanent

By WATSON SIMS
LONDON — Brushing aside the U. S. proposal for a 10-month ban on H-bomb tests, Russia insisted yesterday they be suspended for at least two years and that an East-West formula be worked out completely renouncing nuclear weapons.

Russia's Valerian Zorin rejected key points of the latest U. S. proposals in a 90-minute speech before the five-nation U. N. Disarmament subcommittee.

Taken aback by the stiffening in the Soviet attitude, Western delegates canceled today's session so they could study Zorin's remarks. British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd termed the speech disappointing while Jules Moch of France said it "seemed propaganda."

One U. S. official said the speech would disappoint anyone looking for concessions from the Kremlin. But he contended that at least Zorin took no backward step.

Moscow radio had warned earlier this week that anyone who expected concessions as a result of the shakeup in the Soviet hierarchy would be disappointed.

On the positive side, Zorin again said his government was committed to a partial disarmament

Soil Bank May Be Extended Another Year

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON — The House, which voted in May to kill the major part of the Eisenhower farm soil bank program after this year, appeared ready today to back down and grant it one more year of life.

The year's extension was contained in a Senate-House compromise on a $3,600,000,000 agriculture appropriation bill for the fiscal year that started July 1.

In addition to money for the current year, the compromise measure would provide authority for a 500 million dollar appropriation for next year's acreage reserve program. Under that program farmers are paid for taking land out of production of basic crops that are in surplus.

Rep. Harrison (D-Vt.), who led the successful House fight to end the payments after his year, indicated he may not press the battle anew. "I still don't like it," he added.

The compromise bill would limit sign-ups for acreage reserve contracts to crops normally planted by July 1 next year, and would halt all payments after Sept. 15, 1958.

Harrison told a reporter the cut-off date should prevent use of funds in next year's congressional elections.

"Use of this money in the elections last year was disgraceful," he said, echoing charges made during last year's campaign that payments to farmers were hurried into strategic areas just before the election.

"Under this bill, if they're going to use the money for election purposes next year, they're going to have to spend it before the middle of September."

Senate and House conferees said they expected the compromise, to be passed by the House without too much trouble. Democratic and Republican sources were divided in their support of the bill.

The compromise would put a $2,000 limitation on the amount of Soil Bank money any one farmer can receive.

The bill also would direct the government to see that farmers make a genuine effort to reduce their total production by the amount of crop land they place in the soil bank.

The conservation reserve program also would be lightened up by a directive to the Secretary of Agriculture to "give careful consideration" to the value of the land converted to trees, grass and other long-range conservation purposes. The government also makes payments for this land under the soil bank program.

The bill would authorize 325 million dollars for conservation reserve payments. The House voted 250 million dollars, the Senate 350 millions.

He Believes in Everlasting Life, Therefore Builds Home He Expects to Last Forever

By HAL BOYLE

ALCOA, Tenn. (U)—William Andrew Nicholson is an 80-year-old carpenter who built an everlasting home because he confidently expects to live forever.

It is a fortress-like stone dwelling which will live over an 8-year period. It is known locally as "Millennium Manor" and "The house that faith built."

"I cannot rust or rot," said Nicholson. "And if nothing wrecks it there is no reason why it shouldn't last a million years."

Nicholson himself is serenely certain that a million years from now he will be happy, alive and content with his house and lot.

His reason is simple. He loves Jesus Christ, and he accepts as a statement of literal fact that Biblical promise that whosoever loves Christ will have everlasting

Civil Rights Bill 'Loaded' Beyond Voting

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — The civil rights bill is loaded—in the sense that it goes far beyond just protecting the voting rights of Negroes—but it hardly comes under the head of "loading."

Sen. Russell, Georgia Democrat and captain of the Senate Southrons now trying to prevent Senate consideration of the bill, called it the "most cunningly devised and contrived piece of legislation I have ever seen."

This, knowingly or not, was a slap at the Justice Department. Atty. Gen. Brownell, at the Senate Judiciary Committee's own hearings last February, said the bill was put together by his Justice Department's lawyers.

Brownell frankly said this bill—backed by the Eisenhower administration—would go beyond protection of voting rights. For example, he said, he would sign in under it to back up the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation.

He didn't go into the many kinds of civil rights violations covered by this bill. He wasn't asked. Here are some other possibilities: segregation on buses, interference with witnesses or jurors where civil rights are concerned. There are plenty.

This is how he'd act: He'd ask a federal judge to order a stop to the violations. Disobedience would bring trial for contempt by the judge himself—not a jury trial—and jail if convicted.

In his indignation against this bill, Russell suggested that it be suggested that it be submitted to national vote. Only a handful of the people most affected by it—Southern Negroes—are eligible to vote.

What particularly irritated Russell was that the bill doesn't everywhere spell out precisely what it would do but amends other laws which are merely referred to in the bill by number.

This is not, however, unusual in legislation. In such cases it is assumed that the senators, before they vote, will take the trouble to look up the amended laws to find

Outlook to August

The weather maps below give the U. S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecast from now until August. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an ESTIMATE of the average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

Above-normal temperatures from now until August will be experienced by the lower half and northeastern section of the nation. The northwestern portion will have below-normal readings. A band running from the upper Great Lakes to the West Coast will have near-normal temperatures. Only the lower portion of California is expected to be hit with really soaring temperatures.

Most of the nation can expect fair days ahead. Moderate rainfall is expected over the greatest portion. An area extending from the northeast to the Carolinas and inland to Tennessee may have light rain. The same goes for much of California; heavy downpours may hit the northwest, Florida and lower Texas.

Ask Funds for New Tables in Fair Park

In recent months, the condition of the picnic tables at Fair Park has become so bad that there is an immediate need to replace these tables in order to give the public a decent facility for outdoor cooking and picnicking.

The Parks and Recreation Commission would like to replace these tables with a permanent type steel-frame table covered with 2-inch lumber. This type table will not turn over, will not wobble on top from rain or dampness and can be stored during the winter months. It is also a much more attractive table than the tables now in the park, and will give much better service.

Since the Parks Department has no money set aside for repairing and replacing these tables, an appeal must be made to the public. The Park facilities are used extensively from early spring until late fall and there is a great demand to improve these facilities.

Any individual, service club or association within the city wishing to put a table in the park at a cost of $30 per unit, please contact Charles Cough immediately. The City Park is an important part of our City and it is wished to make it as attractive and comfortable as possible.

Donations may also be left at Hope Star office and will be turned over to the city commission.

House Group Okays Harris Gas Measure

By CHARLES C. HASLET
WASHINGTON — The House Commerce Committee today approved the controversial natural gas bill by a tight 15-13 vote.

The bill by Committee Chairman Harris (D-Ark.) is designed to free natural gas producers from utility type regulation by the federal government. It now is slated to go to the House Rules Committee, where further opposition is expected.

The Rules Committee decides whether major legislation should be given the right of way for House action.

Rep. O'Hara (R-Minn.) is author of a companion bill.

A committee member said two proponents of the legislation voted only "resent" at today's meeting.

Actress Judy Tyler Robbed After Death

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)—Authorities today investigated the possibility that the body of Actress Judy Tyler, killed in a highway crash a week ago, was robbed of two diamond rings.

Miss Tyler and her husband of four months, Gregory Lafayette, were victims of a collision near Rock River, Wyo.

Miss Tyler's family engaged Charles C. Littman of the Milwaukee Police Department to investigate the accident over the weekend.

Littman said the two diamond rings, valued at "several thousand dollars," were not on her finger when officers reached the accident scene, and were not found among her effects.

The Milwaukee police officer said Miss Tyler may have left the diamond rings in Hollywood.

He said he also did not find any trace of $15,000 Miss Tyler was believed to have received in Hollywood as a salary payment—but it might have been forwarded to her New York business agent.

In New York, the actress' agents, the Brum-Newborn agency, said Miss Tyler usually deposited

'I Accuse' Is Film of Great French Story

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Some controversies, like old soldiers, never die. That's especially true when the controversy is about an old soldier named Alfred Dreyfus.

He was the French officer, sent to Devil's Island late in the 19th century, whose case was taken up as a crusade by French intellectuals who accused high government and army officials of anti-Semitism. Dreyfus, a Jew, was vindicated after a long battle.

You wouldn't think that such a long-ago affair would still be alive, but Jose Ferrer claims that it is. He has just finished directing and starring in "I Accuse," the Dreyfus story.

"Apparently, Dreyfus is still a big issue in France," commented Ferrer. "Nobody took any direct action against us, but you could feel an undercurrent of resentment."

Producer Sam Zimbalist got the cold shoulder on requests for filming locations in France. Ferrer reported. The major part of the film was made in England but certain locations were desired in Paris.

"We waited and waited for permission to come through," the actor said. "Finally, we couldn't wait any longer. We had to shoot the exteriors in Brussels."

He added that one French official was quoted as saying a film about Dreyfus was not in the interests of national security.

"I got violent reactions from French people I know," Ferrer said. "One man asked me what I was doing and I told him I was making a picture about Dreyfus. 'I didn't know you were anti-French,' he said."

"I really fed off on him. I told him: 'The picture tells the truth about Dreyfus. 2. Other nations know the truth; C. That France

Red Skelton Takes Ill Son on a Tour

HOLLYWOOD — Young Richard Skelton, suffering from leukemia, is off to see the ruins of Pompeii. That's the sight the famed comic's son most wants to see in Europe.

The Skelton family—Red, wife Georgia, daughter Valentina, 10, and Richard, 9—left by Scandinavian Airlines early today for Copenhagen. Bo Roos Sr., business manager for the comic, also went along.

"I just want Richard to see some of the great wonders of the world," Red told a reporter as his carotid-topped son played nearby as vigorously as any other boy his age.

The boy's illness is the so-called remission stage where the cancerous blood cells apparently lie dormant.

The boy's doctor has pronounced

Negro Tennis Girl Champ Has Problems

New York (AP) — America's newest tennis champion, Althea Gibson, was scheduled to arrive here today from London with some of the dilemmas often faced by newly-crowned and long-trying champions — named "what to do next."

Beside the sunny off-its she will have to compete in tennis tournaments in this country during the rest of the summer, and on the international scene during the coming fall and winter, the first Negro ever to win at Wimbledon also has a chance to be a night-club singer, or possibly settle down and be a housewife.

The former stems from a couple of impromptu songs she did at a party in her honor in London Saturday night, after she had beaten Darlene Hard, of Montebello, Calif., in the singles finals, 6-3, 6-2.

In fact she did such fine renditions that Bertie Green, manager of the swank Astor Club on London's west side, told her she can get a date at his club any time she wants one. An English band leader made her the same offer with his organization.

She even wowed the usually staid and stoic London music critics. William Hickey of the Daily Express and John Rolls of the Daily Mirror both commented favorably on her rich, deep voice and sense of rhythm.

The possibility of entering a life of domesticity came about from rumors that she and efficiency expert William Dabben, of nearby Teterboro, N.J., were planning to marry.

The lanky, 20-year-old Harlem school teacher hedged on this point. All she would say was: "I have a boy friend who likes me. So does every girl. I'm not engaged though."

As far as her tennis plans are concerned, she said she plans to play in the U.S. clay Courts championships beginning Monday. She had been invited to play in the Irish championships but declined.

While still on the subject of tennis, Miss Gibson said she thought former Aussie star Lew Hoad "is a very wise fellow" for accepting promoter Jack Kramer's $125,000 offer to play professional tennis.

"He's got a wife and family and no one is going to look after them if anything happens to him in the amateur game," she asserted.

But she did not say whether she would consider turning professional if an offer was made to her.

The world's largest amphitheater, the Rome Colosseum, was once a marble quarry.

Ford wins the battle of the builds

Sure! Many people buy Fords because of their long, low, whistle-collecting looks. Do you blame them? But beauty alone isn't enough to earn for a car the No. 1 spot in America's heart. And that's just what Ford has earned. The real secrets of Ford's success are the extra values that go into building a Ford. Let's look at a few of these features. Ford shares them only with a select number of America's most expensive cars. But you get them at low Ford prices.

1. Only Ford in its field has a frame design that lets you ride within the side members for greater roominess, smoothness and safety.
2. Only Ford in its field gives you a modern V-8 engine with rigid, deep-block design for smoother, quieter, longer-lived operation.
3. Only Ford in its field offers automatic variable-rate rear springs that automatically adjust to give a smoother ride on roughest roads.
4. Only Ford in its field offers new swept-back ball-joint front suspension that "rolls with the punch."
5. Only Ford in its field offers as many as five strengthening roof cross members for a more rigid roof.
6. Only Ford offers such a savingful car. A Ford Six beat all other cars in the Mobilgas Economy Run in the miles-per-gallon department.
7. Only Ford in its field offers a frame with 3 tubular cross members. There are 5 cross members in all... enabling the frame to withstand stress from all directions.

8. Only Ford electronically balances every V-8 engine while it's operating under its own power.

9. Only Ford in its field offers so much soundproofing for a quieter ride under all road conditions.

10. Only Ford in its field offers such a well sealed body for greater freedom from dust wherever you go.
11. Only Ford in its field offers rear door assist springs and two-position front door checks for easier entrance.

In the deep entry of her home, Garde unlocked the front door for Nan, then stood looking down at her for a moment before he put his arm around her and kissed her.

She looked up at him, her eyes glowing in the light from the small lamp in the hall. "That tasted like goodby," she said.

"No," he answered gently. "It was only good night, dear."

Carrying his new cap in his hand, Garde went to the side door of the house, ducking his head against the rain which was coming down now steadily, softly whispering. His mother called to him from her bedroom, and he answered her, then went on to his own room.

Being as quiet as he could, he changed his clothes, putting on jeans and crepe-soled shoes. He had a flashlight ready and sat

Low Hoad in Middle of Big Argument

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK — A professional just one day, Low Hoad today found himself the middle-man in international war of tennis nerves.

Hoad, the big Australian Davis Cup star, signed yesterday to play for Jack Kramer's troupe for the fastest figure ever given a pro player — $125,000 for two years.

The ink still was wet on the contract when in rapid-fire order:

1. Pancho Gonzales, the man Hoad was signed to play, said he would not appear in Kramer's "Tournament of Champions" starting Saturday in Forest Hills.

2. The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia launched a move to ban Hoad and Kramer's entire tour from playing on any official courts Down Under.

The sudden turn of events left Hoad, who only last Friday won his second straight Wimbledon championship, bewildered. He was especially hurt at remarks by officials in Australia accusing him of breaking his word.

Don Ferguson, president of the LTAA, accused him of "causing great disappointment to the tennis public and officials in Ireland, Europe and America, in which countries we had arranged for him to play as a member of the Australian team."

"I don't know why Mr. Ferguson said those things," said Hoad, obviously distressed. "I had to be guided by my own interests. I didn't know when my back might be up again."

He was referring to the fact that his back has bothered him on numerous occasions in the past and on occasion, he has been forced to take long layoffs.

Bonzales, the pro champion, said in Los Angeles that he would not play in either the Forest Hills tournament or one scheduled to start in Los Angeles July 29.

"They'll hurt the sale of our tour," he said. He and Hoad are to start a world 100-match tour next January.

Jramer, the money-man, took it all with an air of calm.

"This is a situation like a horse telling a trainer when he can't run," said the handsome ex-U. S. Cupper turned impresario. "Pancho seems to forget he is under contract to me. I will admit his contract says he doesn't have to play in a tournament of more than seven days.

Therefore, I made him an offer to play only seven days of the tournament. I want to bring this to a head and I expect to have it cleared up by tomorrow."

The LTAA, apparently fed up with Australian stars turning pro, has called a meeting for Aug. 4 to discuss "amateur-professional" relationships. Apparently the LTAA intends to ask its member associations to refuse use of their courts to Kramer's troupe. This could prove a serious hindrance to the tour.

47 Arkansans Are Listed in Pro Baseball

B CHATLEY THORNTON

JONESBORO -Arkansas doesn't have to make a back seat to any state in the number of players it supplies to professional baseball.

At present there are at least 47 Arkansans engaged in making their living in baseball, including 11 in the major leagues.

The most famed name among the "big leaguers" is that of George Kell of Swifton. The modest cattle-rancher copped the American League batting championship in 1947 and still is regarded as the top third baseman in baseball. He plays with the Baltimore Orioles.

Wally Moon of Bay and Hail Smith of Bartles are starters for the St. Louis Cardinals and Sherman Lollar of Durham is recognized as one of the top catchers in the American circuit while playing for the Chicago White Sox.

Moore and Smith are All-Star game selections, while Lollar played last year.

Other are Ellis Kinder of T-kins, another member of the White Sox; Mary Blaylock of Fort Smith, with the Phillies; Ransom Jackson of Helena and Little Rock, with the Dodgers; Gene Stephens of Gravett, with the Red Sox; Carl Swanski of Little Rock, with the Braves; and Gene Host of Little Rock, with the Athletics.

And not to be forgotten is Bill Dickey, one of the all-time great catchers, who earns his bread and butter as a coach for the New York Yankees. Bill, a native of Little Rock, presently is on the disabled list. He's a member of the Hall of Fame.

Actually, youthful Brooks Robinson of Little Rock also should be listed on the major league roster, but the Orioles sent him back to San Antonio for a little more seasoning. Brooks, a 1954 graduate of Little Rock Central High, is rated as one of the fine third base prospects.

After getting off to a booming start, the hard-hitting Robinson suffered a recurrence of a leg injury and was out of action for a number of weeks.

Though pushing his 38th birthday, Kell remains one of the top hitters in the American loop. Bearded twice this season, George recently spent 10 days at his home in Swifton, recuperating from the most recent injury.

Rumors have it that George plans to retire after this season and settle down to his thriving cattle and insurance business, but Kell might linger on in pinch-hitting roles for another year or so.

Kinder is near the end of a brilliant career. At one time he was one of the leading hurlers in baseball, but the veteran hurler's age is creeping up on him and he has been confined to relief jobs this season with the Chicago.

Jackson is sitting on the Brooklyn bench, but while at Chicago and was one of the top Chicago in the Cub lineup.

Soft-spoken Sherm Lollar is rated the finest defensive catcher around, but he's never been a flashy player and doesn't hit for the high average. He hits the long-ball, though, and as spearhead hopes this season.

Blaylock tended first base for the frisky Reds in 1956 but has been benched in favor of slugger Ed Bonchae.

Swatski, the one-time Nashville slugger, has been relegated to pinch-hitting duty for the pennant contending Braves, but he's also attend and participate in the rally.

Casey Stengelirate on Eve of All-Star

B JOE REICHLER

ST. LOUIS - Casey Stengel continued to voice his displeasure over the fans' All-Star vote as well as tactics used by rival American League managers.

Jim Bunning, his "second choice" starter, prepared to face Philadelphia's Curt Simmons in the silver anniversary of the annual All-Star Game today.

"The manager of the New York Yankees, in disagreement with the fans over several of their All-Star selections, and indignant because Cleveland used pitcher Early Wynn, his originally intended starter, last Sunday, promised some changes next year.

"I think the present way of picking the players should be continued even if they are not done the right way. It's an honor to be on the team and it doesn't make any difference who chose them. Sometimes it looks like politicians are at work and there are one or two players on my team I'd be a little leery of starting. They way the vote in a certain city could kill the whole thing, but you don't want to rob the public who comes to the game."

Stengel also disclosed he will propose a rule prohibiting managers from starting pitchers who have been named to the All-Star team any later than Saturday prior to the big game.

"I had planned to start Wynn," Stengel explained, "because of his experience and his knowledge of the National League players, but when I learned he pitched Sunday I switched to Bunning because he too is a right-hander and is the most rested."

Stengel's criticism of Cleveland's use of Wynn Sunday drew a sharp reply from Kerby Farrell, rookie manager of the Indians.

"I'm a hell of a lot more interested in beating the Chicago White Sox in a double-header than winning the All-Star Game," he said.

However, if Casey gets his rule passed, I'll go along. What's good for one club is good for the other."

Brooklyn Manager Walter Alston, who will direct the National League's said he sympathized with Stengel's attitude, but added he didn't see how the pilots could be asked to sacrifice using a star pitcher in a close pennant race.

Stengel is sensitive about his All-Star managerial record (he's lost five or six games), was not particularly happy over the selections of Detroit's Harvey Kuenn at shortstop, Cleveland's Vic Wertz at first base and Baltimore's George Kell at third base.

He made no secret of his belief that his own Bill Skowron at first, Gil McDougald at shortstop, and Boston's Fred Malone at third would give his league better representation.

"I plan to make some changes as soon as I'm permitted after the first three innings," he said.

Stengel's decision to start Bunning, who owns a 10-2 record, with 93 strikeouts and a 2.03 earned National League's right-handed dominance. Only Stan Musial and Ed Bailey, among the starters, but left-handed Stengel said he probably would follow with another right-hander Billy Loos of Baltimore.

Alston also played the percentage by naming Curt Simmons, the veteran Philadelphia Phillies left-hander, who has an 8-4 record. The American League batting order is strongly southerly.

The odds-makers have lowered the price from 6-5 favoring the American League to 11-10 picking 'em.

rated a fine receiver.

"Streak-hitting Moon, the pride of northeast Arkansas, won the title of Rookie of the Year in 1954 with his sensational fielding and hitting, and earlier this season he hit safely in 24 games, but the bushy-browed hitter has been in a slump of late. Still, All-Star Manager Walter Alston of Brooklyn thought enough of Wally to pick him on the All-Star squad.

Smith, spirited Card backstop, has hit for a good average this year and ranks as one of the top young catchers in the business. He likewise was picked on the All-Star list and played once before teammates Hal and Raylock on the Fort Smith American Legion team.

He Asks If Integration Is for PTAs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Baptist minister asked the Little Rock School Board today if planned classroom integration this fall also means that social and PTA activities will be integrated.

The Rev. Wesley Pruden submitted seven questions in a letter to the board and Supt. Virgil Blossom. The pastor asked one of the questions at a recent board meeting. The board told him to put it in writing.

The questions the Rev. Mr. Pruden came up with today included: Will the PTA be integrated at Central High School? Will whites and Negroes use the same shower and rest room facilities? Will Negro students be allowed to join school-sponsored clubs? Will racial mixing occur in dramatic plays at school?

The one the pastor asked orally and repeated in writing was: will "Negro boys be permitted to solicit the white girls at dances?" Board Chairman Dr. William G. Cooper said last month the board would try to answer the questions at its July meeting.

Illegal Bid Is Charged in U. A. Contract

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A $618,423 suit was filed against the University of Arkansas board today. It contended that a contract to construct five apartment buildings was let on an illegal bid.

Hugh W. Martin of Pulaski County filed the action in Chancery Court here. Martin charged that the trustees should have rejected a bid by the B. Sweetser Construction Co. of Fayetteville.

The suit said Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett held last May that the contract was invalid, but that the board later issued a work order for the project.

Martin's suit also contended that Sweetser failed to list sub-contractors in his bid.

The buildings involved were designed for married students.

Phil Silvers' Show Favorite of C. Mercer

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK — Of all the comedy returns on television these summer evenings, this department's favorite is the Phil Silvers Show.

Even though you've seen some of them before, Bilko and the boys of his platoon come through with freshness on the screen.

Meanwhile, work on next season's films has begun. The producer of the program, Edward J. Montagne, said the other day that Silvers' fans can look forward to these pleasant things next season:

1. There will be any basic changes in the format of the program. It still will be Bilko in and out of uniform and the same members of the platoon.

2. The kick-off program on Sept. 17 will be a presentation of "The Merry Widow" in which Sgt. Bilko actually sings.

3. The chances are that the platoon will move to Europe for a while, but the story line will move to Europe while the platoon maintains its production schedule in New York using films for the European backgrounds.

"There are possibilities of a lot of fun if the platoon has some new commanding officers for a brief change," Montagne said. "Maybe, or example a naughty British type. But we have to be careful not to offend our allies. The Army has given us the fullest cooperation in the show, checking us out on authentic details. The arm likes us fine. In the Pentagon they feel that Sgt. Bilko has been a real help in increasing enlistments. . . ."

Approval of the Phil Silvers Show extends, in fact, all the way to the Commander-in-Chief in the White House. After President Eisenhower missed an program in March, Montagne said, CBS received a White House request for the film.

Montagne, who has a long history as a TV and movie director and producer in both Hollywood and New York, believes "it would not be the same show if we did it from Hollywood instead of New York. The actors in the platoon are all New York boys. If we'd begun it in Hollywood inevitably there would have been familiar actors' faces in it and we'd have lost some of the freshness."

But Montagne feels that what makes the Phil Silvers Show go, above everything else, is Silvers himself.

One out of every three families in the U.S. has a financial income in addition to earnings from regular employment.
